

Dear Teachers,

I created this Grammar Pacing Guide based on ELAR 2020 TEKS and STAAR revise and edit questions that will be on the STAAR reading test this year.

Most schools already have a writing curriculum they follow, but many of these curriculums have little or no grammar included. This Grammar Pacing Guide will work with any writing curriculum you already use.

I included 4 days in each week because I know you have other things going on. You should set aside 20-25 mins. a day for grammar at the beginning of the year (first 12 weeks). Not only is it necessary to build exceptional writers, but it is also important for the students to know these grammar skills for STAAR Revise/Edit questions.

*These are the things I included in the pacing guide:

- The grammar skill and TEK
- A link to a YouTube video on the grammar skill
- A time for a small group activity which can be either task cards, sorting activities, sentence strips, searching for the grammar skill in mentor text, etc.
- A time for an independent practice which can include a Kahoot, worksheet, Google Classroom assignment, etc.
- Introduction of Revise and Edit questions

You do NOT have to purchase any of my products to use this Grammar Pacing Guide, but if you are looking for products to make teaching grammar easy on you, this is a few items that I have to offer:

Third Grade Writing Notebook- NO PREP student notes for every grammar skill, revising strategies, and expository writing strategies

Grammar Games- Excellent small group activities for many of the grammar skills

Grammar Practice Pages- NO PREP independent practice pages for every grammar skill in TEKS 3.11 D (i-xi)

Revising and Editing Strategies- A hands on way to introduce Revising strategies for STAAR Revise questions

Skill Specific Revise and Edit Practice- 30 short passages with questions over specific grammar skills.
